> Creation of seven one-way streets in Atlanta in the hope they will decrease accidents and expedite the flow of vehicular traffic, will be urged by a special committee from the Aflanta Manufacturing and Distributing Association at the regular meeting of council's police committee, November 17, it was announced yesterday by A. Perryman Little, president. The association asks for a 30 to 60-day trial of the plan to test its efficiency. Under the plan, which, in essence, is a revival of a proposal made several years ago by Captain Jack Malcom, of the Traffic Bureau, two thoroughfares will be established for north bound traffic, three for south bound, two for east bound and two for west bound. Little said the association, composed of more than 40 leading manufacturing and distributing.organizations of Atlanta, approves the proposals, and that the organization believes such a program is more feasible than a part-time one-way arrangement, which was proposed to council at its last meeting and on which the police com mittee is slated to take action a Louisville Publisher Says Intelligent Planning Will Overcome Handicaps of the Section.

A dozen southern states sent delegates to Atlanta last night for the avowed purpose of making a serious and thorough study of every problem which today faces the south and to see that the south of tomorrow may be made a better place in which to live.

It was the opening session at the Biltmore hotel of the first of what is intended to be an annual series of southern conferences on "Tomorrow's Children," which outstanding leaders in the fields of medicine, education, soclology and allied fields will attend to study and analyze the past solely for the purpose of planning sounder basis for the future.

so-called attempt on Hitler's life, as it was detected six years ago

On Wednesday night, the aim in view was to rekindle loyalty to the Fuehrer among the masses to prepare them for the difficult and cruel times which lay ahead of them and to cause hate against Britain to flame up.

That incident and the manner in which it has been unhesitatingly exploited on the German radio oday ought probably to dispel all doubts about the true significance of the following phrase uttered by Hitler in his speech: "Germany will speak a language all are to understand."

TWO FATALITIES ARE REPORTED IN FRONTIER INCIDENT

Possibility That War May Turn Into One of Carnage and Destruction Believed Increasing.

By The Associated Press.
The possibility that Europe's war of waiting might turn swiftly into a conflict of carnage and destruction appeared to be increasing yesterday following Wednesday's unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Adolf Hit-

Nervousness in the neutral Netherlands and Belgium increased perceptibly with rumors of intensified German activity on the western front.

Dykes Opened.

The Netherlands, after ordering civilians to leave their homes in villages in the new "water line" regions, began flooding strategic areas for defense, and Belgium increased her mobilization to about 600,000 men.

A mysterious shooting incident on the Netherlands-German frontier in which two persons may have been killed and several abducted into Germany also was reported. One report of the clash was that two persons were killed. Another authorized version said only one person was injured. Both versions agreed several persons had been spirited across the border into Germany. Rumors of Activity.

The incident heightened nervousness prevailing in this country and neighboring Belgium as a result of rumors of intensified German military activity on the west-

European Stage Set for Anything

All indications last night pointed toward momentuous events develoning within the next 48 hours in Europe, The Netherlands-Belgian peace appeal of two days ago was followed yesterday with flooding by Holland of her defense area. This morning, all Dutch military furloughs were cancelled and every move being made by the Dutch led observers to believe they feared an attack by Nazi Germany in a drive across their borders to the sea.

On the Dutch-German border, Germans and Dutch were involved in a shooting affray and one or two were reported killed last night. Is this an overt act because of which Herr Hitler could "justify" a march into Holland?

On the heels of the "beer hall" bombing Wednesday, the Nazis performed in characteristic, aggressive style. A total reward of $360,000 has been offered for in-Page 20 $360,000 has been offered for in-Page 21 formation on this bombing. Page 20 Threats of "real war" have been made again by Berlin and Great Britain last night was blamed "officialy" for the attemped assassination of Herr Hitler.

All is in readiness for one of Hitler's sudden acts. Will it be, as Pages 15, 16, 17, 19 many believe, a march into Holland to hit at England just across the channel? Or drives into Bel-Page 10 the channel? Or drives into Bel-Page 26 gium and Switzerland in efforts to DeKalb Committee Advocates Putting Plan Into Constitution.

A 3 per cent sales tax on all retail commodities to raise funds for school purposes in Georgia was advocated by a special com-mittee of 50 residents of DeKalb county at a meeting last night in Decatur.

Decatur.

The committee, which met to discuss ways and means of raising $27,000 per month for the operation of DeKalb county schools after December 31, when state appropriations terminate, also urged that the sales tax plan be incorporated into the State Constitution and that a lump sum of $1,000,000 be taken from the general fund and diverted to the maintenance of state-supported schools.

Indictment of Leo E. Gatteney, of Plainfield, N. J., president of Bankers Industrial Service, Inc., and one of the principal witnesses in the recent mail fraud trial of J. R. Rossignol and A. J. Crocy, was announced here yesterday by William Green, regional administrator of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Indictment was returned October 19, but was kept secret until it was opened this week before United States District Judge Alfred Coxe, of the southern district of New York.

$120,000 in Stock Sold.

Approximately $120,000 worth of stock in the company was sold to Georgians by the investment firm of Rossignol & Crocy before their bankruptcy in the early part of 1938, Green said. The two former partners of the firm were convicted in federal court of mail fraud in connection with allegedly fraudulent stock sales, but have not yet been sentenced.

The 19-count indictment against Gaffeney and other officers of the company charged a scheme to defraud was employed in connection with the sale and offer for sale of 250,000 shares of Class A common stock of the company. Also indicted was Frank Ware, an employe of Hiltz & Company, of New York, who arranged for distribution of the stock to various brokers and dealers.

Misrepresentation Charged.

The indictment charged the stock was sold on the false representation that the dividends paid came out of profits. Among other alleged misrepresentations were false statements of the company's profits; that no compensation had ever been paid to the directors by the company or its subsidiary, and that the DuPont family of Wilmington was interested in its operation.

Gaffeney appeared before Judge Coxe and pleaded not guilty, Green said. His bond was fixed at $4,000.

UNITES METHODISTS

Dr. W. A. Smart, of Emory, Makes First Address After Merger.

PADUCAH, Ky., Nov. 9.—(P)—
Before a standing congregation of more than 500, Bishop W. T. Watkins, of Atlanta, tonight read a solemn declaration of union bringing the century-old Memphis conference into the recently unified Methodist church.

With reading of the declaration the governing body of the spiritual affairs of 100,000 Methodists in the midwest area bounded by the Tennessee, Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and the Mississippi northern state line became the Memphis conference of the Methodist church, and ceased existence as the ruling organization of the M. E. Church, South.

In the first address before the new conference, Dr. W. A. Smart, professor of Biblical theology at Emory University in Atlanta, declared that union of the three branches of Methodism is an indication that religion is drawing closer together in the face of a seriously growing belief in "human adequacy"—the tendency of man to depend on himself rather than God.

Millions of pine seedlings and shrubs will be shipped from the federal nursery here, beginning early in December, according to John Powell, project manager.

They are expected to be shipped to several southeastern states, with many being distributed in Georgia. None will be sold, Powell explained, but will be used by other government agencies.

Loblolly, slash and short leaf pine will lead the shipments in quantity, there being about 4,200,000 of pine seedlings.

Second to pine seedlings come kudzu vines, there being about 4,000,000 at the nursery ready for distribution.

Application Received by Maritime Commission Already Burdened With Other Problem Children by the British-French blockade of

washington, Nov. 9.—(P)—
The question whether the government should permit the sale of aging American merchant vessels to Europe's warring nations was raised tonight by a proposal to sell five old trawlers to the French Line.

An application for approval of the sale was received by the Federal Maritime Commission from the Portland Trawling Company, a subsidiary of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Company of New York.

Authorities said it was the first such application they could recall since the outbreak of the war in Europe. Some added that the proposal, though a small matter in itself, might result in a precedent affecting disposition of many other obsolescent vessels as the Maritime Commission's program of replacing such ships with new tonnage progressed.

BRITISH WARNED OF 'VIOLENT' WAR

Nazis Speak No Language But 'Force,' Chamberlain Says of Peace.

LONDON, Nov. 9 .- (A)-Prim Minister Chamberlain envisaged little change today for quick peace in Europe's "strangest of wars" and warned that at any moment it might change to a "violent conflict."

In an address to the lord mayor's luncheon, read by Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon because Chamberlain is ill with gout, the prime minister said he believed Germany would turn down the Belgian-Netherlands peace appeal.

He blamed "stiff-necked" Ger man leaders who "speak no lan guage but that of force."

"We do not want to continue the war a day longer than is necessary if a satisfactory settlement can be obtained in another way." he said.

Homeward Route of American Freighter Will Swing Far North and Avoid 'Combat Zone' Proclaimed by Roosevelt; Departure To Be Speeded.

BERGEN, Norway, Nov. 9.—
(UP)—The American freighter City of Flint, shunted about the seas since its capture a month ago today by the German pocket battleship Deutschland, will unload its cargo here and sail for the United States as soon as possible, Captain Joseph A. Gainard said today.

The steamer was released from

The Dies Committee

The Dies committee of investigation into un-American activities of various individuals and groups in this country has, in some aspects, made itself ludicrous in the eyes of the public and, in others, has performed really important and valuable service for the country.

Since it first began its hearings the committee has witnessed a remarkable change of attitude in public opinion. It was at first regarded, by most people, as a ludicrous sort of hullaballoo, entirely out of proportion to the objective sought. It was acknowledged there were a few Communists and Communist organizations in this country, together with a Nazi Bund or two and a handful, probably, of spies and agents for foreign governments who sought to sow seeds of eventual revolution among us. But that they were in sufficient number to constitute any genuine threat was considered

The conduct of the Dies committee hearings has been, on the whole, unfortunate. It has, to be true, uncovered some startling and dangerous conditions but it has lent itself to the art of lampoonist and laid itself open to the snickers of the incredulous. .

Today, however, while the committee is still. in some of its actions, ill-advised, the people generally are awake to the fact there is a very real danger from the organizations, the foreign agents and the other borers from within who would, if they could, destroy American democracy and deliver the people of this country to the control of one or another of the various isms that plague other parts of the world.

It is not, of course, the activities of the Dies committee that are alone responsible for this awakening by the American people. Much credit must be given to the American Legion. And the shock of the treaty between Stalin and Hitler, Communist and Nazi, contributed not a little to the new awareness. World events are of a nature to rudely open all eyes and render all lovers of individual liberty alert to dangers within and without.

Whatever the cause of the awakening, however, the Dies committee finds itself facing a far different public attitude than that which chuckled at its birth. Today the evils it attacks are at least taken seriously and all Americans wish it success in its efforts.

At the same time, however, there is the wish that the committee conduct, if it is to continue its work, will be better advised. The people want results wherever real danger lurks, but they are tired of witch hunts. They would like to see the committee get down to serious investigations and forget the absurdities which have, in the past, brought laugh-provoking

The committee is, at last, faced with opportunity to perform real service for the nation. All required is that it shall direct its efforts with greater wisdom than has been dis--played hitherto.

Parable of the Humming Bird

In a world surfeited with the reading of depression and of war, there is a happy and cheering note in the saga of a funny-looking little bird which for a time was bound by airplane from Pittsburgh to Rio de Janeiro because it was believed to be a humming bird that had missed the convoy and was threatened with death from cold. The story made the world seem quite all right again.

There is something of the grand gesture in the tale of the little bird with the funny bill. That it turned out to be a brown creeper and in the right part of the country does not alter the fact that the vast resources of three major airlines had been marshaled for that single errand of mercy, that tender hands and solicitous minds would have delivered the wanderer safe from the stinging cold to the warmth they thought he needed to live. And there is a deeper meaning behind this grand gesture. There are many humans not as fortunate as this little bird-they are the humming birds of our civilization, left out in the cold and forgotten as the world goes by.

They, too, need a helping hand. It is not too late to care enough to give enough. For these humans the Community Fund stands in the same relation as these great airlines to the supposed humming bird. Can you pass them by? Or have you the same richness of heart that conceived the long trip to warmth and safety?

Poppy Day

Today is Poppy Day. Sponsored by the American Légion Auxiliary, women and girls will stand on the downtown street corners with the tiny, artificial flowers and will ask each passer-by to buy one, for whatever they care to give, in memory of the World War veterans who today lie, wounded and helpless, in the nation's hospitals.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in the government hospitals and all the money collected is used to help lift the physical and financial burdens of the veterans and their families. It is the one, great tangible opportunity by which America of today can show individual gratitude and appreciation for the sacrifice these men of the army of yesterday

The government, true, has been generous in its treatment of the disabled veterans. Hospitals, pensions and other aids have been given to make as smooth as possible their handicapped ways of life. Yet there are always some things that government, officialdom, cannot do.

It is for these other things that the money raised on Poppy Day is needed. It performs a very sincere service of relief and alleviates much painful stress that would otherwise be Poppy Day provides the avenue for the personal touch in gifts to the disabled American veterans of the World War. It means much to many of these men and to their

It should mean much more to us who have the opportunity to give.

Time and Change

No better illustration of the maxim that time brings changes has been seen recently than the situation presented this week when the second anniversary of Italy's alignment with Germany and Japan in the anti-comintern pact was "celebrated." The anniversary was ignored in Italy-in sharp contrast to the strongly anti-Bolshevik tone of the Fascist press

There is good reason why the day was just another day in Italy. The second anniversary of the pact finds Germany at war and receiving the aid of Russia. And, as the anniversary passed, diplomats speculated whether the alliance against the spread of Communism would survive the newly-launched collaboration between the Nazis and the Red Bear. Diplomats observed further that, as a result of the Russo-German tie-up, Japan is still far from a proposed military alliance with either Germany or Italy.

Further contrast was seen in the fact that when Hitler welcomed Italy into the pact two years ago, the Fuehrer expressed great satisfaction that the "community of nations united in a defense against the Bolshevik world menace has been increased."

Now, two years later, Rome has turned its back to Berlin. Italy has grown cool to the socalled "pact of steel." Perhaps time will bring the same sort of congealing between Berlin and Moscow. That is something to anticipate.

It seems there were a couple of Frenchmen, One wrote war communiques, and the other had nothing to say, either.

The Fuehrer finds a kindred spirit, in the w. The new box clouds a nice issue, and drags a red herring with the best of them.

REFUGEE PROBLEM (From The Wilmington News.)

President Roosevelt has modified his program for the settlement of the ten to twenty million persons he says may be made homeless by the ropean war.

Objections raised by Britain and France have ulted in compromise which will be submitted to the executive committee of the intergovernmental committee.

Britain and France, it was learned, have objected to the President's idea. The executive committee adjourned from last week until tomorrow to give the two nations time to think it over. itain and France were said to have contended in effect: 1-That they expected to win the war in Eu-

2-That such being the case, the Europe that would exist after the war would not be the Europe of today in which hundreds of thousands of rsons are persecuted because of race or religion, 3—That peoples scattered by the war would returned to their homes. If the regions in which they lived were devastated the regions would be rebuilt, like France and Belgium after 4—That consequently there was no need for a vast program involving tremendous shifts of populations and the expenditure of billions of dollars. At any rate, the work of helping the German olitical refugees—almost all Jewish—will go on will take two major forms: The first will call for the mass settlement of refugees in places like the Philippines and the Dominican Republic. The second will seek to get German Jewish emigres out of Switzerland, Holland and Belgium, to prevent their becoming burdensome for these nations.

THE CAPITAL PARADE By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

OUT OF SPOTLIGHT WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—In the Roosevelt administration, as in so many others, the stocks of individuals and coteries rise and fall with the freedom of corporation securities on the New York exchange. Of late, some wiseacres have predicted a marked drop in that celebrated gilt-edged investment, Corcoran, Cohen & Company, as the New Deal group is commonly but wrongly ticketed.

The prediction would seem to be wrong, but understandable. The stock of the New Dealers has not dropped, in the sense that they have lost the confidence of the President. But they are unsertionably suffering from the supersection was been. The for-ably suffering from the reverse of a war boom. The foreign situation has appreciably reduced their business.

The situation is pretty simple. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, Attorney General Frank Murphy, SEC Chairman Jerome N. Frank, SEC Commissioner Leon Henderson, and all the other New Dealers in high administrative posts remain very much on the job. The government economists and lawyers who constitute the New Dealers' rank and file still go about their important business. But the way abroad and file still go about their important business. But the war abroad has cost the group—as a group—two of its most important functions.

In the first place, the group—as a group—derived its chief meaning from the fact that it served as a sort of hotbed, in which the er plants of domestic policy were partially matured, and from which the President chose young shoots for transplantation to the ruder kitchen garden of the legislative branch. As the war has temporarily concentrated all attention on foreign policy, this hotbed function is at an end for the present. Then, in the sec certain members of the group, among whom Thomas G. Corcoran was pre-eminent, have been politically active in such lines as the promotion of the third-term movement. Since the President's plea for nonpartisanship, these political activities have been voluntarily

MEN AND JOBS It is easy to see why the current suspension of the New Dealers' two most striking functions has been taken as evidence of their loss of favor. But this interpretation ignores the President's most deeply-rooted administrative habit, which is to tag certain men for certain jobs, and always to turn to those men when these jobs have to be done.

The war emergency presented a problem far outside the New Dealers' field. Consequently, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, dersecretary Sumner Welles and Assistant Secretary Adolph A. Berle Jr. have been almost exclusively consulted on international questions and on the related domestic issue, revision of the neutrality act. In the neutrality fight, the New Dealers' talents as amanuenses and bill-drafters found no outlet. They were called on only to use their persuasions on their particular friends in congress.

Similarly, the economic problems presented by the war emergency have been handled by the regular administrative officials of the Treasury, the Commerce Department and the Federal Reserve system. Meanwhile, the war has also brought a change of political emphasis, with congressional liberals opposing the President's foreign policy and conservative Democrats going along. This, too, has its effect, for conspicuous activity by the New Dealers is vastly

AND THE FUTURE The men with whom the President now chiefly works, both in congress and in the executive branch, are none too friendly to the New Dealers. They are likely to continue predominant for some time to come. They are most unlikely to share their tasks. The New Dealers have no grounds for complaint, since they were not exactly hospitable to collaborators in their own heyday.

At present, besides their regular jobs, the New Dealers are hard at work on power policy and one or two other matters. There has been no suggestion that the President has forgotten their loyalty to They believe that a third term for the President is assured (which omits from consideration the question whether the President wants one). They are, in fact, quite content with their lot, and do not worry about the future. It will be well worth watching, however, for signs of restoration of the New Dealers' former functions; for such signs, if they appear, will mean that the present war emergency phase has come to an abrupt end.

A GOOD STORY.

Dr. Earle V. Pierce, of Minneapolis, one of the speakers in our Christian Life Emphasis Week at Druid Hills, addressing a great noon on "Men and the Master," was developing his theme under the central idea that "Whoever masters you, makes you," and he illustrated one phase of this great truth by a chapter out his own life, which I pass on to you as a ran on like this:

The girl handing out samples of peanuts in a spoon, said to a girl who passed, "Hey, Ruby, too bad they didn't blow up old sourpuss, wasn't it?"

The taxi driver said, "I hope they don't miss next time."

The shine boy said: "Man, man, too bad that clock was slow."

The barber said, "I guess they'll keep trying."

The manicurist said, "I think that is the silliest mustache."

The man grinding the coffee said, "Wouldn't you dislike it if you knew there were people who hated you enough to want to kill you?"

Hitler has done a job in America he never expected to do. We Americans are liberals. Yet we restrict or expand our liberalism with our emotions. Hitler, with his cruelties, his suppression of human liberty, has done more to set people to thinking about per-sonal liberty than any other individual or any other factor in world events. Whatever good the man may have accomplished, and he has some such accomplishment to his credit, is lost in the welter of concentration camps, terror, blood and lies which have marked his

The Beer Hall Polka was a death march, but Destiny spared Hitler.

THE BEER HALL PUTSCH The Beer Hall explosion, which might have changed the international picture had it been 15 minutes earlier, once again emphasizes the amazing rise of the man Hitler.

A political spy for the Reichswehr in the summer of 1919, he was "converted" to the National Workers' party in July, 1919. Until the next June, however, he remained ostensibly in the service of He changed the name to the National Socialists Workers' party.

"party" numbered 60 persons. He spoke first to audiences In 1923 he met with his party in the Munich beer hall. He insisted on a revolution. There was opposition. He prevailed. He led the men out into the streets. The people did not rise. The loyal soldiers fired on him and his "army." Hitler dived to the street so hard he broke his shoulder. Some were killed, others Hitler was put into jail. He emerged with his book, "Mein Kampf," a resolution to do things legally (hence his fantastic and ridiculous insistence on "plebiscites"), and set about becoming the "savior" of Germany.

It is a far cry from the party of 60 members in 1919, just 20 short years ago, to today when Germany, under Hitler, is a world power at war with France and the British Empire. Hitler dominates middle Europe. Hitler is the German governme public was not really their own.

He told them the Marxists, the Communists and the Jews were responsible for their woes. (Today he has joined with the Communists.) He kept harping on the fact they, the people, were the real Germany. A lot of people began to listen. He was talking to 20,000, not 20 persons; and they grew to 100,000. He found he could arouse emotions. He kept saying, "You are mine and I am yours, so long as I live." He had the power of an evangelist. He preached a degraded Germany which he could lead to spiritual and national salvation. People began to listen. They know today that he, not they, is Germany.

The French came back into the Ruhr. Inflation followed. This ruined the lower middle-class Germans and set them to starving. They turned to Hitler. Chancellor Bruening brought deflation and the upper middle class was crushed.

Officials of the republic were jealous and began to sabotage it. The year 1932 was a critical one. Hindenburg was 85 years old and president. There were rows with chancellors. Bruening, Von Papen and Schleicher followed in order. In the November elections the Nazis dropped 2,000,000 votes. The people were weary of the

His theory is that every man has a story if you can get it out of him, and that the reaction of a crowd of spectators is just as important as the doings of the principals in an event.

Charged that Endicott, sitting at the prosecution table, was "nod-ding and shaking his head," while Carter was being cross-examined, to tell the marshal what to testify. "I didn't see any such thing going on, but if it was, it must be stopped," the judge asserted. Endicott denied he was attempting an event.

So Young Bill is going to roam over the warring countries of Europe, generally leaving the big boys to the staff men of the press associations and newspapers, and devoting his own time to talking devoting his own time to talking with the men, women and children who make up the general public. During much of the summer and fall of 1939, he has proved that his system works and his writings are interesting, for he spent that time in Emporia, Kansas, and wrote a daily column for the New York Post. The stacks of fan mail which were forwarded to Emporia proved that the easterners did care what the "little fellows" thought and did.

An assistant manager making a check of the room found the body. Guggenheim, he said, had registered yesterday under the name of Hubert Hildebrand, of San Francisco.

The body was fully clothed but the room was in disorder and several rifle shots had pierced the ceiling. Apparently the weapon had continued firing after the trigger first was pulled.

Investigator Hints Important Discoveries in Maritime Union.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—(P)—Shortly after an initial two-hour executive session with investigators and witnesses here today, Representative Dies, Democrat, Texas, chairman of the committee investigating un-American activities, announced his investigators had developed facts of such importance that a public hearing would be necessary.

He said the open inquiry into alleged Communistic influences in the National Maritime Union along the gulf and other matters would start either tomorrow or Monday, the decision to be made after a conference later with Chief of Police George Reyer, and others con-

Is the Scene of Delightful Party

By Sally Forth.

JOE KIRCHER'S appearance Wednesday afternoon before the Garden Club of Jackson prompted one of those delightful parties for which the Elwood Robinsons, of Jackson, are famous. Joe, as you doubtless know, holds an important job as regional forester for Uncle Sam, with fit states and Puerto Rico under his Jurisdiction, so of course he is in great demand as a speaker with garden clubs and other such organizations. And the party held in his honor following the meeting was one of the best it has ever been Sally's privilege to attend!

It was held at the Robinson camp, an inviting spot situated deep in the woods on a bluff overlooking South river at a point to miles from Jackson. There the guests gathered before a huge log fire in the living room of the attractive bungalow, built entirely of logs, to await a delicious supper of hickory-smoked ham, scrambled eggs, hot biscuits and steaming coffee, topped off by thick silices of devil's food cake. The caretaker and presiding genius of the camp kitchen is Aunt Dicey, a beloved colored woman, who sings negro spirituals as she prepares the grand things for which the Robinson parties are noted.

In addition to the spacious living room, the bungalow boasts of a dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, bath, and a large screened porch which overlooks the river. As you have guessed, the camp is the favorite gathering place for Jackson's social set, and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are constantly acting as hosts to the young mar-

And always adding charm and galety to their parties are their close friends, Mrs. Bert Car-michael, the former Sylvia Lyons, and Jim Lyons, who assisted in entertaining on Wednesday evening. Atlantans motor-ing to Jackson with the honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reese and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer

Of course many of the alumnae will wear the green ships, symbolic of the Eunomian society at the college. Others will flaunt the colorful parrots so dear to Polymnian Club members. play a hand at bridge, we should make certain we can fulfill our partnership obligation and make good on our bargain in the event the rest of the players around the table accept our proposition.

Nothing destroys partnership confidence quicker than an opening bidder who always expects partner's hand to save the day. We must learn to appreciate our trick-taking strength and then bid or pass accordingly.

TRIPLE VALUES.

In last Friday's Lesson No. 4 of this special 'Teen-Age series, the complete Culbertson honor-trick sweet young thing of last spring is table was given. The honor-trick Vitamin salad—escarole, green count of our hand represents the estimated trick-taking value of our high-cards . . . the Aces, Kings, Tens, at (1) our own bids; (2) in support to partner's bids; (3) in defense of opponent's bids.

OPPONENTS MAY TRUMP. Because there is a possibility of a third lead of our suit being Baked potato trumped by adversaries, we are cautioned not to count more than two honor-tricks in the same suit, Whole wheat bread, 1 slice as when holding the Ace-King. is problematical if our Queen will ACE-QUEEN COMBINATION. The Ace-Queen of the same suit is valued at 1 1-2 honor-tricks because half the time our Ace-Queen will win two tricks, half the time one trick, depending upon the position of the missing King.

The King-Queen-Jack combination is likewise valued at 1 1-2 honor-tricks, but for a different reason. Leading the King from King-Queen-Jack does force the adverse Ace and promote the King and Queen to winners, but again it is problematical whether the Jack of the suit will win or be trumped. It is given a 50-50 rating after conceding the Queen to be worth one defensive trick.

With Vitamin Concentrates

By Ida Jean Kain.

The story of the vitamins, which has been running from day to day this week, would be incomplete without some reference to the concentrates. These are made by pharmaceutical firms and dispenses through the drug stores and even over the cosmetic counters of department stores.

Doctors and nutritionists alike stress the advisability of securing your vitamins in the form of food. Valuable as they are, the concen-trates should not be considered anything more than dietary supple-

It seems to be a human failing to act on the assumption that if a little is good, more is better . . . but it is very easy to take too many of the concentrates and upset the digestive tract. Many persons can-not handle them in the amounts suggested for the average and rather than specify an amount, some firms prefer to have the doc-

If you were under the impres-sion that you could rely entirely upon the concentrates, you might be tempted to leave the protective foods out of the menus. That would be extremely unwise. There are probably many essential elements in the vitamin-supplying foods which have not been incorporated in the concentrates. In all cases menus should be balanced to include the protective foods, the concentrates used as supplements,

By careful planning, the low calorie menus can be made to furnish the vitamins and minerals in adequate amounts. But there is some doubt that a diet restricted to 1,000 calories can supply the protective elements in optimal amounts. And since optimal amounts are needed for exuberant health, the concentrates might well be used in conjunction with the prolonged low calorie diet.

Supplement Diet MY DAY Red Cross Opens Information Bureau

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON.—It was grand to have even a few hours in the country yesterday. As I told you, I arrived in time to go up to the polling booth to see the others vote and to pay my annual subscription to the Hyde Park Red Cross. Up there, it is an institution for the Red Cross membership drive to begin on election day, on the theory, I imagine, that they will catch more people together than at any other time.

The New York chapter of the American Red Cross has opened an information bureau at 590 Madison avenue. This is an effort to spread information about the National Red Cross roll call and to tell people what the national headquarters are doing to help war sufferers in addition to their general work. There will be celebrities present on different days. Gertrude Lawrence, who is at present playing in "Skylark," has agreed to help in the roll call.

If you happen to want information as to what you can do to be of assistance to people who are in need of Red Cross help anywhere in the world, go to this office, for they are prepared to answer all questions of this kind.

The President had a grand time yesterday inspecting the first little house built on one end of a barn at Hyde Park. Another week should really finish it, and my brother and husband are so pleased with their handiwork that they are planning to build a great many more around the place.

As the President has had a little cold, he decided to stay over another day. Not being anxious to spend another night on the train unnecessarily, I took an afternoon train back to New York city and came down here last night. I had an interesting time on the train, for two or three people felt kindly inclined; my neighbor in the next seat talked with me, as did my neighbor across the sisle.

One amusing incident occurred when a lady across the aisle, not having a watch and having lost track of the time, suddenly thought she had reached her destination and hurriedly rang for the porter to find out if she ought to leave the train. I have done that very often when absorbed in a book or some work I was doing. Once actually did find I was pulling into a station where I should be prepared to get off and I practically fell out of the train, putting on my

Convalescent Should Forget Ex-Fiance Who Ran Away

By Caroline Chatfield.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

We were as happy as two young people could be, just nuts about each other, until this awful thing happened. I was taken ill and for a long time the doctors failed to diagnose my case. I weighed only 80 pounds when they discovered I had tuberculosis. I told the boy friend what the trouble was and gave him a chance to quit, which he said he didn't want. Then one day he left as usual saying, "See you soon," and Then one day he left as usual saying, "See you soon," and never came back. You know how that would crush a well girl much less a sick one. A year has passed now and I am on the way to recovery. I know I could improve much faster if only I could see him. Mother thinks it would be awful for me to write him but I can't see it that way. Please advise me what to do.

ELIZABETH.

ANSWER: Take your mother's advice, child, and it won't be long before you will agree that she was right. An interview with the ex-beau couldn't net you anything but further heartache and disappointment, even if he were to answer your call which, judging from past performances, he wouldn't. You'll get well faster by relying on your own pride and will power than by trying to lean on a broken reed hich isn't in reach.

Here's the way to put grit in your craw. You loved a person you thought to be fine and strong, brave and honest, some-one you could depend upon and be happy with. Then some-thing happened that gave him a wonderful chance to show how good he was. But he wasn't good at all. He was not the person you took him to be.

When you were in trouble and needed him to stand by, he fell down and flunked out. When you were in low ground and looked to him to pull you up he gave you a kick and absconded. He just ran like an arrant coward and left you guessing what took him off; and he left you with a broken heart to heal in addition to one or two bad lungs.

All of which shows clearly that he has no tenderness in his make-up, no affection in his heart for you and no character to speak of. So perhaps after all your illness was a blessing in disguise that saved you from making a terrible mistake in the choice of a mate.

One of the old Latin scholars wrote a classic essay on how to fall out of love in which he said one must be philosophical and re-member that all things pass—even love fevers; one must dwell on the faults of the ex-dear one of which there were always plenty; refusing to let the mind review happy days when those faults weren't visible; and one must look forward to a new love and pre-pare to meet it. Excellent advice for a convalescent as well as for the hale and hearty! CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

When the tonsils and adenoids become enlarged to a degree suf-ficient to obstruct normal breathing, certainly corrective treatment is imperative. If there is evidence that the child's hearing is at all affected, immediately corrective treatment is necessary to prevent deafness. If the slight obstruction of the breathing passages is sufficient to give the child a wheeze or crow at times or constantly, or to prevent natural breathing through the nose in sleep, or to cause mouth breathing then treatment is neocessary.

The radical operation, removal of tonsils and adenoids under general anesthetic, is always a serious operation, even if a thousand pa-tients survive the operation before one succumbs to accident or complication on the table or after-

In a child under 6 or 8 years of age there is no alternative for surgical removal of large tonsils and idenoids when the obstruction of breathing is of a serious nature. Older children may be tractable enough to co-operate with the doctor in the way necessary for successful use of the diathermy method. Young children will not do so.

The radium emanation treatment is applied in the form of minute glass tubes or "seeds" of radium emanation which are inserted in the tonsil crypts and retained there for a time. This brings about shrinkage or atrophy of the tonsils without producing any reaction. It is practically painless office treatment.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9.-The six weeks' debate in congress over the neutrality act, in which many Republican members took the less popular side of the issue and voted to keep the embargo, brought virtually no change in the popularity of the leading Republican aspirants for the presidency, as measured by a national Institute survey.

Senator Vandenberg, who fought to keep the embargo, and his Republican colleague, Senator Taft, who voted to lift the embargo, remain just about as popular today as when the debate started. And the man who continues to lead in Republican popularity is one who took no part in the neutrality discussions at all-Thomas E. Dewey, of New York.

KISS AFTER MIDNIGHT

While Waiting for Greg, Faith Thinks How Lonely Her Life Is

INSTALLMENT II.

She had had pathetically less than the other girls she knew. Aunt Sara calling the foolish but important desires of a schoolgirl "nonsense." How she had envied the girls who had had the freedom of their homes, to give parties, to meet after school on winter days to chat. Not that Aunt Sara had ever been directly unkind. Looking back, Faith supposed that her aunt had been merely a strict disciplinarian who had raised her as a spinster thought a "nice girl' should be raised. She had been housed and clothed and fed. Better that than the county orphanage, since of her few relatives only Aunt Sara had offered to take her.

A good student, Faith had finished high school at 17 and immediately enrolled at a business sheel is the teven to equin herdiately enrolled at a business sheel is the teven to equin herdiately enrolled at a business sheel is the teven to equin herdiately enrolled at a business metal to the teven to equin herdiately enrolled at a business sheel is the teven to equin herdiately enrolled at a business mand her with a white box under his arm

And Astrid has worked, too, in her way, throwing big parties, cultivating the right people. But there was never any doubt about Walter's being a success in business and he's worked so hard he's never had it was being a succes, in business and pood looks. Lucky people. But there was never any doubt about Walter's being any doubt about Walter any doubt about Wa

A good student, Faith had finished high school at 17 and immediately enrolled at a business school in the town to equip herself to be self-supporting in one of the mills or factories or small business houses. There was no other "out" for her, much as she longed to escape the ugly house and the little town.

She still remembered glancing out of the window one day in the huge, noisy, dirty factory where he had worked the first year thinking that surely there must be beauty in things.

Bo I sound smug?"
"Thank you. You know my beginning."
"I liked you better for telling me. You didn't dress it up. You're almost too honest about yourself. Honesty scares me. I'd rather deceive myself. Well, off to the Edmonds. Mobs of people and Astrid in the spotlight. She loves it."

"I didn't tell any of the girls at the office about this."
"Good. When you see me in the office, you almost cut me dead. I was six months getting up nerve to ask you for a date."

ly there must be beauty in things and human relationship—somewhere. She had never loved anyone with her whole heart nor had anyone loved her. That evening when she reached home she found that Aunt Sara had died quite peacefully during her afternoon

The neighbors were kind. But the clan gathered for the spoils and relatives who had grudgingly invited Faith to have dinner with them once a year and sent her a cheap gift at Christmas were shocked and outraged when they discovered that Aunt Sara had left discovered that Aunt Sara had left her small estate to Faith; they were even more shocked and outraged when they discovered that she planned to go to New York—alone. Why, they had demanded to know. She did not attempt an explanation, knowing they would be the properties of the statement and the statement was the statement and statement was not understand that all her years she had prayed to escape and that she had dared to dream that there was more for her than work in a factory and marriage without love as a refuge.

Vividly she recalled her last night in the ugly house. Her tears, her resolution wavering—I'll stay, her resolution wavering—I'll stay.

... No, I won't stay. I'll go no matter what happens to me. . . .
But if I can't get a job and my money goes. . . I must get a job! I will! I will!

A cheap, hideous little room the first year and three temporary jobs and several months without a job. Unspeakable loneliness. . . . Christmas Day I ad been horrible. A room at the girls' club the second year and Christmas Day with Gretchen, lonely, too. And the past year a promising position, the apartment with Gretchen. Her rel-atives had ceased to write. No doubt they thought she had sunk to the worst.

She breathed in deeply, thinking, "I'm so grateful. Let nothing spoil it." But she was struggling still on a small salary and was frequently lonely. Careful of her friends, she had made few and Gretchen was uninterested in anything and any one except her job. New York can be one of the loneest places in he world.

Somewhere, some one perfect for her, some one to give all that she wished to give . . . Her warm, bright mouth curved. Yes, she still believed it. Somewhere, still believed it. Somewhere, some one, a particular one patterned for her . . . Gretchen jeered in her quiet, efficient voice, "No girl ever gets the man she wants. She has to be satisfied with at least third best." Faith had said, "Maybe, but I'll wait. And I'll know instantly."

TARZAN—By Edgar Rice Burroughs

LOOKING DOWN FROM HER PRISON VAULT, WAS TERRIFIED FOR TARZAN. BUT HER OWN PLIGHT WAS EQUALLY DANGEROUS.

THE OXYGEN IN THE VAULT WAS ALMOST EXHAUSTED. JANE GASPED AND STRUGGLED FOR BREATH.

DROWSINESS OVERCAME HER. SHE FELL TO THE FLOOR

Tech Offense Expected To Test 'Cats'

Jackets Stress Pass Of-fense, Defense in Drills This Week.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. Most folks won't argue the fact that Kentucky has more and faster backs than Tech. They won't pull a gun and threaten to shoot you when you say Zoeller, Combs, herd, Mullins, Allen, Jones and Ishmael have more combined talent than Bosch, Gibson, Ector, Murphy, Wheby, Pair, Goree, Shaw and Beers.

But they'll also go right overboard and pick the Jackets to win the game Saturday afternoon at Grant Field.

They figure the Kentuckians don't have a smart enough defense to cope with the razzle-dazzle, ball-hiding boys of Bill Alexander. And we are slightly inclined to

There is really nothing to prove the Wildcat line is weak defen-sively. Vanderbilt scored twice, Georgia and Alabama once each. That makes four touchdowns against the 'Cats, but somehow the idea exists Kentucky hasn't yet come up against a bunch of yet come up against a bunch of sleight-of-hand artists such as Tech will present in full view of some 25,000 fans Saturday. PASSES GALORE.

Both teams are likely to open up enemy defenses with numerous up enemy defenses with numerous passes all afternoon. Tech has Bosch and Gibson. Kentucky has Zoeller, Allen and a host of others. Both have excellent pass-catching ends. So there is a sneaking notion line-backers won't be rushing headlong into plays before finding out definitely it is going to be a run.

plays this week in practices. A couple of new ones have been added. George Webb, Rob Ison, Joe Bartlett and Paul Sprayberry have never shown better form on the receiving end. And Harry Ar-thur is also looking better. The husky sophomore is one of Tech's best defensive flankmen and realbest defensive flankmen and really found himself against Duke last Saturday. He hasn't seen much service because his offensive ability isn't quite up to the high Jacket standard set by the other four ends. However, his work in recent practices has brought smiles to coaches' faces and he will likely see a lot of action Saturday.

There is an old line which goes "O, Tempore Mores," or longer the football doormat as of yore. Kentucky seems to be madder still about that Alabama tie because it hurt their conference record. Maybe they think that they're going to lick Tech and Tennessee. Never can tell.

You see, they had previously rapped Vanderbilt for the first time in Wildcat history. That was a good be-ginning. It really didn't matter that almost everyone else had done the same to the hapless Commodores. All that mattered to Kentucky was that the long losing streak had been broken.

The Wildcats scored in the last two minutes of play to avert a tie with Georgia. They really would have been sore if the passes had failed.

Undoubtedly, Kentucky still has visions of an unbeaten season. If they can get by Tech, they have a rest game while Tennessee is playing the old foe, Vanderbilt. This may be the joker on the Vols' carefully calculated schedule.

There is just a chance that Vandy can give Tennessee a good going over while Kentucky lays back and

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 9.

(P)—University of Tennessee students raised a howl today when they learned only end-zone bleacher seats were available for the Kentucky-Tennessee football game Thanksgiving (the one on November 30.)

Somebody overlooked the students while selling 800 reserved seat tickets mostly to townspeople.

When a frantic call went out when a frantic call went out for more tickets, the University of Kentucky was able to send only the end-zone ducats. "The cheerleaders have all been invited to the game but none of them are going," said a disconsolate cheerleader.

"There's no point to our going when there won't be enough Tennessee students there to raise a good cheer."

cashier of the State Wild Life Division, reported yesterday.

Johnson released figures showing that gross sale of licenses for August, September and October totaled $77,157.20 this year as compared to $40,746.61 for these months in 1938.

Of this amount $21,968.50 came from licenses issued by the State Revenue Department under the new plan which requires that all fees be paid to this unit. This plan went into effect October 1, and although criticized by hunters and former license agents in some and former license agents in some sections, appears to be more work-able than the old plan which saw Wild Life Division lose $31,-000 last year because of various irregularities.

The sudden increase in receipts,

Johnson observed, may be partly attributed to the rush before the application system was adopted. However, he expressed belief that stricter enforcement on top of the general sentiment toward the new set-up, have been the main factors in the license upturn.

Bulldogs Stress Pass Defense, Fearing 'Gators' Air Game

Squad Leaves Tonight for Jacksonville; Three Sophs To Start.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9.—Georgia

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 9.—Georgia drilled lightly in sweat clothes this afternoon and will wind up work for the Florida game in Jacksonville Saturday with a brief practice early tomorrow prior to boarding a train at 7:15 o'clock for the battle front.

Coach Wallace Butts prescribed light work for his squad in an effort to keep the Bulldogs from going flat after a strenuous October grind that took a lot out of the battling Georgians.

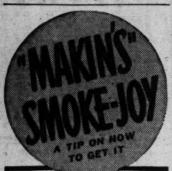

Major Attention.

Pass defense came in for major attention during the afternoon's work since word has drifted out of the 'Gator camp that Coach Josh Cody plans to take to the air if necessary to win Saturday.

Coach Butts also had his punters working at length in an effort to match the 'Gator kicking. Poor punting has proven Georgia's worst enemy this season but with Cliff Kimsey back on the firing line, the Bulldogs should improve.

Kimsey will open the game at tailback for the Bulldogs Saturday.

His duties will be three-fold because in addition to handling a major portion of the ball carrying, the Cornelia boy must take care of passing and punting while he is in the fray. Florida Team Tapers Off for Georgia Clash

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—
(A)—Pass defense and dummy scrimmage against Georgia plays occupied the Florida 'Gators today as they began tapering off their preparations for their annual clash ith the Bulldogs at Jacksonville

Saturday.
Coach Josh Cody sent his squad through three consecutive days of scrimmage the first half of the week in an effort to sharpen an offensive that bogged down against South Carolina last Saturday. To-day's session was the first letup from rough work.

from Tallahassee, was running on the first team today. Mitchell hasn't seen a minute's varsity competition this season, but Cody has indicated he may use the speedy wingman against Georgia.

The remainder of the first string today was composed of Vergie Fer-guson at the other end; Clark Goff and John Smith at tackles; Mush Battista and Milton Hull, guards; Mike Bucha, center; Bud Walton, Leo Cahill, Tex Hanna and Charlie Leo Cahill, Tex Hanna and Charlie Tate, backs.

Walton, Tate, Andy Beno and Bill Cowen engaged in a short place-kicking drill, with Tate getting the best percentage of goals.
Cody has not yet announced his starting lineup or what players will make the trip. The squad will leave here tomorrow at 2 p. m. for Ponte Vedra to spend the night prior to the game. A short limbering up drill probably will be held at Ponte Vedra in the afternoon.

Kenneth (Nutty) Campbell, one of the south's smarter quarterbacks in his day, was talking yesterday about the game.

"The Jackets quite naturally must adjust themselves to the strain of Duke, Kentucky and Alabama in a row. The Blue Devils and the Tidesmen are their natural rivals, excepting Georgia. They point to these games. So with the after effects of the Duke engagement and the contemplation of the Alabama tussle, which I think they'll win, they might find themselves in an uncomfortable spot."

As quarterback for Oglethorpe, Nutty once had a hand in beating Georgia Tech on Grant field. He's a lawyer now but still follows football closely.

"Just between us, Jack, I have a copy of this pic-ture hanging on my wall at home and the pointer man who snapped it and gave it to me confided in me that it was taken one morning last season in south Georgia just 30 minutes after their hunt started. It seems this picturetaking huntsman had given out of shells early and returned to his car for more (leaving his two pointer dogs on a point and his friend off looking for his setter.) Upon arriving at the automobile he found his friend's big setter dog in the peaceful attitude of rest as shown in the picture. He couldn't resist making the picture of him before returning to the hunt.

'Afterwards when he gave me the picture he mumbled omething about anyone feeding a bird dog who cared so little about quail that he would lie right down by them in the early morning and go to sleep. He also said something about rabbit dog, all of which I didn't catch.

NEW YORK. Nov. 9.—Sugar futures fell with a thud today after morning improvement. The market proved too heavy when profit-taking, liquidation and hedging appeared in the last hour.

The domestic list ended unchanged to 1 down with the exception of November, off 8 points on a closing bid. Sales totaled 20,600 tons. The world contract dipped 1 to 2 points on turnover of 11-400 tons: December 1.42b, March 1.43½. In the raw market Puerto Ricos for December shipment and Philippine for November arrival were quoted 3.05 cents but refiners, considering the fall in futures, were not interested. Refined continued at 5 cents.

Dow-Jones Averages. STOCKS.

What Stocks Did. Thur. 107 612 154 873 837 NEW YORK, Nov. 9 .- (P)-The stock market ran into a late selling squall today and leading issues that had managed to rally feebly in the morning dropped fractions to more than 2 points.

Some support before the close helped trim extreme declines in many cases, but the comeback was notably lacking in vigor. Blame for the reaction was laid principally on dumping by tired holders who, noting the list in the past three or four weeks had been novering in extremely narrow territory and had been unable to put on any worthwhile recovery swing, apparently decided to unload on the theory a real "correction" of the war boom upsurge of September might be in the offing.

In the curb fractions to more than 2 points were lopped off Humble Oil, Jones & Laughlin, Electric Bond & Share, Lockheed and American Cynamid #9." and American Cynamid "B." Turn-over of 222,000 shares compared with 192,000 Wednesday.

NEW YORK.

New Yorders to sell European monles and buy American dollars came into the foreign exchange market from all corners of the world today.

When the books were closed for the day the British pound was quoted 6 cents lower in terms of the dollar after an early decline of around 14 cents.

The Belgian belga was hammered down .06 of a cent to the lowest price since 1933. The Canadian dollar lost nearly a full cent, and the French franc dropped .04 of a cent Unchanged, however, were the guilder and Swiss franc.

Money experts were fairly unanimous in agreeing the basic cause for the fresh declines could be found in revision of American neutrality laws.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)— Juited States government issues moved up sharply in the bond market today, the majority closing with gains ranging to 22-32nds of a point.

Dealings in the federals were modest in the stock exchange, but in over-the-counter market they were bought in fair volume. The upturn was attributed in part to announcement Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau was leaving on a vacation of a week to ten days, and that there would be no new Treasury financing in his abnew Treasury financing in his sence beyond the sale of 91-day

In the corporate division lected industrial and utility loans edged forward fractions to around 1, but the bulk of the rails tilted an equal amount lower.

Cottonseed Oil Cottonseed Products.

NEW YORK. Nev. 9.—The cottonseed oil futures market closed on an even keel today with losses of 2 to 4 points after a series of nervous fluctuations. Easiness of security markets prompted selling but as a rule outside orders were small.

Sales totaled 132 lots; December 6.50b, January 6.56b, March 6.73b, May 6.84. (b—Bid). Crude oil sold at 5½ cents in the valley early and ended at 5½ to 5½ in the southeast and valley. Texas was 5½ bid.

The average price of middling 15-16-inch cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 14 points higher at 9.29 cents a pound;
average for the past 30 market days was 9.03 cents.

Middling, 7-8-inch average was 9.10 cents a pound.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 .- (A)-Cotton futures moved forward under full sail today. Despite hedging sales and profit-taking attracted by higher prices, the final range was unchanged to 15 points up.

Not only did buyers find cheering news in a fast rally at Liverpool, but also in reports from pool, but also in reports from Washington that Department of Agriculture officials expected the new loan program to create a

"squeeze" in the spot cotton sup-ply situation by next spring.

The ring took liquidation and hedging with barely a tremor although new buying was of minor proportions. In this light, brokers
